1. The Board approved the minutes from the March 26, 2014, Board meeting.
2. CEO Update. Ms. Hyde began by sharing her view that MCC's greatest asset is its clear and focused mission of economic growth and that its operation model is delivering results and driving policy reforms in the developing world. Opportunities for Board consideration going forward include:
 1. use of MCC compacts as platforms for targeted U.S. Government engagement;
 2. greater structuring of compacts to tie investment to policy reform results; and
 3. exploration of new authorities and approaches to align aid and trade policies, build regional integration through regional investment and work at the sub-national level.
3. Ghana Compact. The Board received an update and presentation on a proposed compact with Ghana by the Department of Compact Operations. Problems in the Ghanaian power sector were identified as a key constraint to growth. The proposed compact, developed through USG collaboration involving Power Africa, Partnership for Growth, NSC, USAID and the U.S. Embassy in Accra, offers a comprehensive solution for addressing the problems in two tranches. The first tranche is designed to increase access to power, aid in Ghana's transition to cleaner fuels and increase generation from renewable sources, improve energy efficiency and contribute to global efforts to reduce carbon emissions, and catalyze private investment. The second, incentive-based, tranche of compact funding would be triggered only if the Government of Ghana takes certain actions resulting in execution of a private sector partnership involving the Electric Company of Ghana. It is anticipated that the compact will be presented to the Board for approval by written consent prior to the African Leaders Summit in August.

4. Strategic Selection Issues: Subsequent Compacts. The Board then received a presentation on opportunities for development impact by using subsequent compacts as a means of putting countries on a self-sustaining growth path. Of sixteen countries that have concluded MCC compacts, eight have been selected as subsequent compact partners. Elements consistently considered in all Board selection decisions concerning subsequent compacts to date include:
1. policy scorecard performance;
 2. performance in the first compact; and
 3. country specific considerations which include opportunities, policy considerations and/or timing.

The Board will undertake more in depth discussion of policy considerations and criteria related to subsequent compacts.

The Board meeting adjourned at 11:01 a.m.
